About the Book

In the heart of vibrant Spain, where tradition dances with modernity, "Kilómetro Cero" unfolds a story of forbidden love that defies age, society, and even fate. Nick Evers, fresh from earning his MBA, didn't anticipate that his greatest lesson would come not from the halls of academia, but from the enigmatic Elizabeth Bach, a woman whose allure transcends the ordinary.

As Nick falls irretrievably into the depths of an illicit affair with Elizabeth, his father's captivating colleague, he finds himself navigating the tumultuous waters of desire and responsibility. Their connection, intense and undeniable, sets off a chain of events that whirls Nick into a life he never envisioned—a life of fleeting engagements and hedonistic pursuits where the lines of right and wrong blur in the heat of passion.

But in this dance of love and longing, truth and consequences, can true love really flourish? Or will it remain an elusive shadow, always just beyond reach? "Kilómetro Cero" is not just a journey through the picturesque streets of Spain; it's a voyage into the human heart, exploring the sacrifices we make in the name of love, the complexities of our desires, and the often painful choices that define us.
